NAB's Sanctions Policy is one of the ways NAB protects our customers and the global financial system from criminal misuse.

Our policy is informed by the sanctions regulations of the United Nations, European Union, Australia, and all the countries in which NAB operates, including the United States, the United Kingdom, China, Singapore, Japan, France, and New Zealand. Balancing these regulations and maintaining a high standard of financial crime protection means that NAB cannot support certain business activity, even where it falls within local regulations or the policies of other banks.

With limited exceptions for activity licensed by regulators, NAB does not support transactions involving:

- Iran, Syria, North Korea, Venezuela, Myanmar, Cuba, Afghanistan, Belarus, Russia, or parts of Ukraine not under Ukrainian government control (including but not limited to Crimea and the Donbas)
- Any persons or entities sanctioned by the United Nations, Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, European Union, U.S. Office of Foreign Asset Control, or other sanctions authorities in jurisdictions where NAB operates, noting that such persons include members of governments (including those of Eritrea, Lebanon, Sudan, Turkey, Zimbabwe, and countries listed above).

You must notify NAB in advance if you plan to engage in business related to the above, even where related to humanitarian aid, legal in your location, or covered by a regulatory license. This will help minimise delays in your transaction and allow us to request the appropriate documentation to mitigate potential financial crime risks (including the risk of funds confiscation).

About this Questionnaire

To balance our business customers' needs with the range of sanctions regulations applicable in different circumstances, NAB needs to understand its customers' exposures to certain regions and industries. Please answer the questions below using the following definitions:

- Your Entity The entity (e.g. company, association) you represent to NAB, including any joint ventures or subsidiaries.
- Related Parties Any individuals or entities legally or structurally linked to your entity, including Parent Company/Group, beneficial owners, directors, affiliates, agents, or officers.
- Business Activity Includes current and planned operations, customers, suppliers, joint ventures, agreements, and origin, destination, and end-user of goods.
